Build Structured Skill in Homeopathic Repertorisation

Repertorisation

Case Work

AI Literacy

The Repertory is homeopathy's index — the instrument that turns a case full of symptoms into a shortlist of remedies worth reading up in the Materia Medica. Using one well is a distinct skill: choosing rubrics, weighting them, recognising when a rubric is too general to be useful, and knowing that the repertory narrows the field but never decides the case.

The GIHS Repertory programme covers the full syllabus: homeopathy repertory and its classification, Organon philosophy, the different repertories and how they differ, classical and modern homeopathy, therapeutic and homeopathic remedies, homeopathic pharmacy, the importance of repertory in practice, clinical and surgical applications, and case work to international standards.

“Structured Study · Careful Repertorisation · Responsible Application.”

GIHS teaches repertorisation as a disciplined analytical method — rubric selection, comparison and documentation — supported by research literacy and digital skills.

Why This Programme Stands Out

- ◆ Focused specialist learning in homeopathic repertory
- ◆ Organon philosophy as the theoretical anchor
- ◆ Classification and the different repertories compared
- ◆ Repertory and its importance in day-to-day practice
- ◆ Classical and modern homeopathy
- ◆ Therapeutic and homeopathic remedies
- ◆ Homeopathic pharmacy
- ◆ Clinical, non-clinical, surgical and non-surgical topics
- ◆ Case work to international standards
- ◆ NEW dedicated AI module for rubric analysis and case documentation
- ◆ Certificate, PG Diploma and Fast-Track learning pathways

Curriculum, Module by Module

The full GIHS syllabus, regrouped into 6 clearly sequenced modules so you can see exactly what each stage of the programme teaches and why it comes where it does. Module 6 is the new Artificial Intelligence module.

MODULE 01 Foundations of Repertory

What a repertory is for, and the philosophy that decides how it should be used.

- Introduction
- Homeopathy repertory
- Organon philosophy

MODULE 02 Classification, the Repertories & Their Use

The major repertories, how they are built differently, and what that changes in practice.

- Classification
- Different repertories
- Repertory and its importance in practice

MODULE 03 Classical & Modern Homeopathy

How the two traditions approach the same case and the same rubric.

- Classical homeopathy
- Modern homeopathy

MODULE 04 Remedies & Pharmacy

The remedies a repertorisation points to, and how they are prepared.

- Therapeutic remedies
- Homeopathic remedies
- Homeopathic pharmacy

MODULE 05 Clinical Application & Case Work

Repertorising real, documented cases to an international standard.

- Clinical & non-clinical homeopathy
- Surgical & non-surgical homeopathy
- Cases as per international standards

MODULE 06 · NEW Artificial Intelligence in Repertory & Homeopathy

Rubric Mapping · Case Organisation · Remedy Comparison · Responsible AI

- Introduction to Artificial Intelligence and Generative AI for repertory learners
- Prompt engineering for homeopathy repertory education
- AI-assisted study notes, summaries, flashcards and revision schedules
- ... and 23 further topics — the full module is set out on page 5

Artificial Intelligence in Repertory & Homeopathy

Rubric Mapping · Case Organisation · Remedy Comparison · Responsible AI

This future-ready module introduces responsible applications of Artificial Intelligence and Generative AI for repertory education, case-documentation organisation, research and academic productivity. AI is an assistive learning and documentation tool — never an autonomous system for repertorisation conclusions, remedy selection, potency, dosage or treatment decisions.

Key Topics Covered

- ◆ Introduction to Artificial Intelligence and Generative AI for repertory learners
- ◆ Prompt engineering for homeopathy repertory education
- ◆ AI-assisted study notes, summaries, flashcards and revision schedules
- ◆ AI-assisted repertory classification and comparison tables
- ◆ AI-assisted learning of different repertories and their structures
- ◆ AI-assisted rubric terminology and glossary development
- ◆ AI support for symptom-to-rubric mapping exercises on educational cases
- ◆ AI-assisted organisation of mental, general and particular symptoms
- ◆ AI support for modality, causation, concomitant and characteristic-symptom learning
- ◆ AI-assisted case-history structuring using fictional or de-identified cases
- ◆ AI-assisted symptom hierarchy and case-summary organisation
- ◆ AI support for repertorisation exercises — with mandatory expert verification
- ◆ AI-assisted remedy-differentiation tables linked to Materia Medica study
- ◆ AI support for Organon–Repertory–Materia Medica concept mapping
- ◆ AI-assisted homeopathic pharmacy revision
- ◆ AI support for case timelines and follow-up documentation without autonomous prescribing
- ◆ AI-assisted literature-search planning for repertory and homeopathy research
- ◆ AI support for research-paper summarisation and reference organisation
- ◆ AI-assisted academic presentations, assignments, question banks and teaching aids
- ◆ AI support for multilingual educational content
- ◆ AI-assisted patient-education drafts for review by qualified professionals
- ◆ AI support for clinic administration, appointment and follow-up workflows
- ◆ Understanding AI-enabled repertory decision-support concepts and their limitations
- ◆ Recognising hallucinated rubrics, remedy relationships, quotations and repertory entries
- ◆ Privacy, confidentiality and de-identification of case information
- ◆ Responsible AI governance, source traceability and human-in-the-loop verification

THE RESPONSIBLE BOUNDARY

Anyone can generate an answer with AI. The professional skill — and the one employers are now paying for — is knowing how to find what the AI got wrong.

A repertorisation is an analysis, not a conclusion, and AI must not be allowed to supply either. Rubric selection, weighting, remedy choice, potency and repetition remain professional decisions; AI also invents rubrics that do not exist in any repertory, which makes verification against the actual text non-negotiable.

What This Module Adds to Your Career

Repertory work is structured data work — symptoms in, rubrics out, remedies ranked — which makes it unusually amenable to AI support for the organising layer: case timelines, symptom categorisation, rubric vocabulary tables, comparison of repertory structures, literature summaries. It is also unusually easy for AI to fake, because an invented rubric looks exactly like a real one. The module trains that distinction directly.

AI-Enhanced Practice Exercises

Applied work that builds the verification habit, not just the prompting habit:

- ◆ Create a repertory study map
- ◆ Develop a verified comparison table of different repertories
- ◆ Create a symptom-to-rubric educational worksheet
- ◆ Prepare a rubric-to-remedy comparison exercise and verify it against approved references
- ◆ Identify fabricated rubrics, references or unsafe prescribing suggestions in AI content

Study Method, Certification, Skills & Career Pathways

Study Methodology

- Freelance, self-paced method of study around your work schedule.
- Study the books and course material provided with your enrollment.
- Note down your queries as you progress through each module.
- Contact your assigned expert by email or phone at any time.
- Experts respond by mail, by call, or arrange a session based on your queries.
- Lifetime expert support to keep raising your knowledge and expertise.
- All content is based on live cases and industry best practice.

Mode of Examination

- Login details for the online examination are issued on completion of the programme duration.
- A 7-day window is given to appear for the online examination.
- The examination pattern is Multiple Choice Questions (MCQ).
- A PowerPoint project of minimum 30 pages on a topic of your own choice.
- Successful candidates are awarded two certifications (Degree and Transcriptional Degree).

Learning Mode, Assessment & Certification

Mode	Online and distance learning, designed for working professionals.
Assessment	Online and distance examinations (MCQ / theoretical) and/or projects.
Certification	GIHS certificate awarded to successful candidates on completion of applicable requirements.
Career support	Placement support and CV-forwarding assistance for successful candidates.
Verification	Employers can confirm certificate authenticity through the official GIHS verification process.

Verified by GIHS itself — not by a third party. Every certificate carries its own certificate ID. An employer, university or registration body can confirm it directly at www.gihsonline.com/verify-certification — no third-party verification agency and no fee.

Practical & Job-Oriented Learning

The programme emphasises the analytical craft: case taking, symptom organisation, rubric selection and weighting, comparison across repertories, documentation and follow-up. For qualified and registered practitioners this supports continuing professional development; for other eligible learners it builds academic, research and documentation competence.

Career-Relevant Skills You Will Develop

- Repertory structure and rubric vocabulary
- Repertorisation method and case analysis
- Organon philosophy
- Comparative repertory knowledge
- Symptom organisation and case documentation
- Remedy and homeopathic pharmacy awareness
- Research and literature-review skills
- Academic presentation and content development
- Clinic documentation and follow-up workflow
- Responsible AI-assisted learning and verification

Career & Professional Pathways

The current GIHS course page lists Academic, research, case-documentation and clinic-support pathways. The programme can also support:

- Repertory and homeopathy academic support
- Homeopathy research support
- Case documentation and clinic support
- Educational content and digital learning support
- Research and literature-review assistance
- Teaching and academic support subject to qualification criteria
- Professional development for qualified homeopathy practitioners

Clinical, specialist and faculty roles in homeopathy depend on recognised qualifications, registration, experience and employer or regulatory requirements. This programme is professional education and complements — it does not replace — a statutory qualification.

Placement support. More than 2,000 GIHS professionals are now working in well-known organisations worldwide, many of them after building CV and interview skills through the free TopCV Coach programme. GIHS shares your profile globally for career growth. Successful candidates receive placement support and their CVs may be forwarded to various organisations. Final employment remains subject to employer selection and role-specific eligibility.

Business & Entrepreneurship Value

Repertorisation is a skill practitioners pay to sharpen, and it is also the part of homeopathy most amenable to digital tooling, training and structured support services.

- ◆ Deliver repertorisation training, workshops and case-analysis clinics
- ◆ Build case-documentation and repertorisation support systems
- ◆ Provide academic and research support on repertory topics
- ◆ Develop digital study tools and rubric-learning resources
- ◆ Offer clinic documentation and follow-up workflow services

Any regulated clinical service must only be provided within your lawful professional scope and applicable registration requirements. Career titles, eligibility and the right to practise depend on your prior qualification, experience, employer criteria and local regulation.

Frequently Asked Questions

What is a homeopathic repertory?

It is an index of symptoms — rubrics — each listing the remedies associated with it, used to narrow a case to a shortlist worth studying in the Materia Medica.

Does the programme compare different repertories?

Yes. Classification and the different repertories are a dedicated syllabus area, because the major repertories are built on different principles.

Does repertorisation decide the remedy?

No, and the programme is explicit about it. The repertory narrows the field; the remedy is confirmed against the Materia Medica and the totality of the case.

Does it cover homeopathic pharmacy?

Yes, along with therapeutic and homeopathic remedies.

Can AI do a repertorisation?

It can help organise symptoms and draft documentation. It must not supply the analysis or the conclusion — and it will invent rubrics that exist in no repertory, which learners are trained to catch.

Who is eligible?

The GIHS course page lists BHMS and MBBS. Other eligible learners may take it as subject education for research, teaching or documentation work.

Does this certificate authorise practice?

No. Remedy selection, potency, dosage and clinical practice require a recognised qualification and registration in your jurisdiction.

Can working professionals enrol?

Yes. The programme is delivered online and by distance learning, with a Fast-Track option.

What is included in the programme fee?

Course material with the latest updates, online access within 48 hours, printed books shipped with your enrolment, a personal subject expert for life at no cost, the online examination and project assessment, and two international certificates on successful completion. There are no hidden charges.

Is the TopCV Coach access really free?

Yes. Every GIHS enrolment now includes complimentary TopCV Coach access worth ₹9,999 for professional resume building and interview skills, and your profile is posted on the TopCV website where a large recruiter network is active.

Can I use this programme to start my own practice or venture?

Yes, within your lawful professional scope. The Business & Entrepreneurship section of this brochure sets out the non-clinical services, education and consulting work the knowledge supports. Regulated clinical services require the appropriate qualification and authorisation.

I am not from a clinical background. Can I still enrol?

Yes. Any graduate from any discipline may enrol, as can working professionals with relevant experience, entrepreneurs and managers of healthcare or allied organisations.

No batch to wait for — start the day you enrol Admissions stay open every day of the year — enrol today and begin at once.
